Railroad Legislation Repealed in Minnesota.

Rejoicing at Little Rock over the Adoption of Poland's Resolution.

LITTLE ROCK, March 4.—There is general rejoicing here and elsewhere throughout the State over the action of Congress in adopting Poland's resolution. Joint resolutions passed both houses of the Legislature yesterday thanking members of Congress who voted for the resolution and pledging the State Government to see that equal and exact justice should be done all men. Senator Hancock (Republican) introduced a resolution requesting the Governor to disband the militia and declaring that the Republicans accept the situation as it is.

Louisville's Interest in Arkansas Affairs.

LOUISVILLE, March 4.—Fifty-seven firms, representing all classes of wholesale business, and who have close business relations with the people of Arkansas telegraphed Judge Poland to-day, thanking him for his noble speech and successful efforts in behalf of quiet and good government in that State.

Excitement in the Stock Market.

NEW YORK, March 4.—There is great excitement on the Stock Exchange and heavy trading in Pacific Mail and Union Pacific stocks, which was the feature from the beginning of the session. Pacific Mail advanced to 41 and Union Pacific to 44½, but each dropped off from these extreme figures.

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Brooklyn city court room was crowded as usual this morning, the fact that a reporter who occupied a seat up to Tuesday is now down with the smallpox having no apparent effect on the attendance.

Mrs. Putnam on the Stand.

Mrs. Putnam resumed her testimony. She had often reproved Tilton for his manner of greeting people. He replied it was the scriptural and oriental fashion. Witness testified to Mrs. Tilton's exalted religious character and rigid morality; also to her fine mental power and her husband's high estimation of them. One point of weakness in her was her apparent inability to live out her own life in opposition to the wishes of her husband.

Fullerton objected to this answer, but the court ruled it should stand.

Mrs. Tilton frequently, when endeavoring to hide her husband's faults, made statements to witness which she didn't believe, though she believed her implicity in other matters. Witness then testified in regard to Tilton's religious views in 1856 and 1857, and the change which he told her in 1862 had taken place in these views. A few weeks after the death of witness' first husband, Tilton asked her to go to the theater. She replied she had never been to a theater, and could not go then, so soon after her affliction. They had a conversation or argument in regard to theaters, and witness strongly opposed Tilton's views. Mrs. Tilton coincided with witness and thanked her for what she had said. Tilton ordered her to keep quiet as he was speaking. Witness related being on a visit with Tilton and family at Southport, Conn., in 1866, and to Tilton's moody, uncomfortable behavior for several days. One day Mrs. Tilton asked her to come up to her room and hear Theodore apologize for his behavior. Tilton said he was afraid he had made us very uncomfortable by his conduct, but he really could not help it.

At this point Jeffrey, the juror who was taken ill yesterday announced to the court that he was unable to sit longer, and the Judge adjourned the court till 2 P. M.

The court reassembled at 2 P. M., but owing to the continued illness of the juror, Jeffrey, adjourned till Monday next.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Closing Scenes.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The Capitol is crowded this morning with people witnessing the closing [illegible] of Congress. The House side in particular is thronged, and it is almost impossible to go through the lobby and corridors. Inside the chamber every available inch of room is occupied and hundreds are unable to obtain admission. The floor is also crowded with strangers, composed for the most part of ex-members, members elect, and distinguished strangers from every section of the country.

At twenty minutes of twelve, upon motion of Packard, permission was given to admit on floor, immediately after which a large number entered, crowding members from their seats and adding to the general confusion.

The Appropriation Bills Signed by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The President and Cabinet and Private Secretary were in the President's room at the Capitol until adjournment of Congress. The President signed the general appropriation bills, none of which failed.

The Bounty Bill Fails—The Appropriation Bills Pass.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The bounty bill was lost in the Senate, being laid on table on motion of Sprague, by a vote of yeas 30, nays 28.

Reports of conference committees on all the appropriation bills have been agreed to in the Senate and bills passed.

Economy Recommended in the Department of Justice.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The final report of the House committee on expenditures in the Department of Justice, recommends the discontinuance of many assistant district attorneys and consolidation of two districts each in North Carolina, Virginia, Michigan and Wisconsin.

[illegible] Bills which passed and some that did not.

Several private bills were lost for want of time to examine them.

The bill for equalization of bounties failed to become a law, the President withholding his signature, and if time had allowed he would have sent in a veto, as he and the Cabinet didn't think this the proper time to make so large an appropriation on account of bounties, some calculations placing the amount from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000.

The river and harbor appropriation bill, now a law, contains all the provisions as passed by the House, except items for improvement of the Tennessee, great Kanawha and Cape Fear rivers, all of which were increased.

Difficulties in the Conference Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—There was great difficulty in the conference committee in coming to an agreement respecting the so-called McGarrahan clause in the sundry civil service bill, but it was finally arranged by striking out the House provision for the [illegible] suit for recovery of the New Idria mines, and all reference to the House resolution of last month, and inserting a direction that the Secretary of the Interior shall report to the next Congress where the company now in possession occupied more land than it is entitled to claim under the mining laws.

The committee of conference on the Senate amendment providing for the Apache Indians during the remainder of the present fiscal year, with amendment, reduced the amount from $175,000 to $125,000.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Last night at 1:30 the doors were reopened, and consideration of the river and harbor bill resumed. The question being on concurring in the amendments made in committee of the whole other than those disposed of by separate vote, they were all nonconcurred with the exception of a few appropriations for Atlantic coast harbors mainly. The bill was then read, and at 3:10 passed.

Edmunds submitted conference report on the legislative appropriation bill. Agreed to.

Scott called up the House bill making appropriations to pay awards of the Southern claims commission, and the amendments made by the committee were concurred in. The bill passed 32 to 12.

Windom submitted conference report on river and harbor appropriation bill, which was agreed to. He said the committee had cut down appropriations so low that he declined to sign the report.

Sargent called up the deficiency appropriation bill and several amendments reported by the committee were agreed to.

Several amendments were submitted but ruled out on points of order. The bill was then reported and Senate amendments adopted in committee of the whole, agreed to. Bill passed.

Morrill submitted conference report on deficiency appropriation bill. Agreed to.

Logan submitted conference report on the equalization of bounties bill. Agreed to.

The committee appointed to wait on the President reported and Vice President Wilson declared the Senate adjourned sine die.

House.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Garfield, at five minutes past 2 A. M., reported back Senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriations bill. A number of amendments were concurred in and a larger number non-concurred in, including the following: amendment striking out the item appropriating $5,000 for the suit in the McGarrahan case (New Idria mining claim); striking out item to pay expenses of contested election cases; striking out item for payment of Montana volunteers; striking out item of $150,000 for clothing for navy; striking out clause for reorganization of the treasury department; amendment to strike out limitations on cost of public buildings at Chicago, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Raleigh. The amendments being all disposed of at 4:30 A. M., the bill was re-sent to the conference committee.

Randall sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter from Hale, of New York, written to Chittenden, of Missouri, in which he expressed the conviction that in the action taken by the House in passing a vote of censure on J. Young Brown, of Kentucky, great injustice was done that gentleman, and expressing regret for the part he (Hale) had taken in the matter, being now convinced that Brown had no intention to deceive the Speaker or House in his reply made to the Speaker's question.

Randall suggested that, as Congress was about to close, it were better all relics of ill-feeling be wiped out, and that the resolution to rescind the vote of censure would be a graceful thing to come from the other side.

Negley made an ill-natured remark in reply to the suggestion, and Butler, of Massachusetts, said: "Here is my response to that (sending up a resolution to give the committee clerks two months' pay from the 4th of March, which was adopted.)"

Dawes said Brown was present and could set himself right before the House, so that it might gladly rescind the vote of censure.

Randall then withdrew the subject from before the House.

At 5 A. M. Senate amendments to the river and harbor appropriation bill were received and non-concurred in, being read and resent to conference committee.

The House then went into business on the Speaker's table and disposed of a number of Senate bills.

Maynard, at 6 o'clock, made a report from the conference committee on the legislative appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

The House again went into business on the Speaker's table and disposed of a number of Senate bills, among others, one for the coinage of twenty cent silver coin.

At 7:30, Garfield, from the committee on appropriations, referred back the Senate amendments to the deficiency bill, and the disagreeing votes were referred to the committee of conference.

At 8 A. M. the House took a recess till 9:30.

At 9:30 the House re-assembled. The conference committee's report on the river and harbor appropriation bill was submitted and agreed to. Sawyer, who submitted the report, stated that the aggregate of the bill was $6,800,000.

Cox protested against the passage of the appropriation bill under suspension of the rules.

Gunckle submitted the conference report on the equalization of the bounty bill, concurring in the Senate amendments. Agreed to, 150 to 40.

Garfield submitted the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Randall, one of the conferers, said he hadn't signed the report, because he considered the aggregate of the bill, $30,000,000, as utterly unjust in the present condition of the finances of the Government and business of the country.

Garfield explained the action of the conference committee. The several Senate amendments, except one, providing for improvement of mouth of the Mississippi by "Eads" project, were abandoned by Senate conferers and stricken out. The conference committee agreed to the Senate amendment providing for the Apache Indians during the remainder of the present fiscal year, with an amendment reducing the amount from $175,000 to $125,000. Senate provision of $162,000 for the Sioux was cut down to $120,000. Senate amendment relating to the Choctaws was wholly stricken out. No provision was made by either House for liabilities in behalf of the Apaches during the previous fiscal year.

Conference report was agreed to.

Parker presented conference report on the deficiency bill. Agreed to.

Scores of resolutions and bills of a private character were then rushed through; the area in front of the Speaker's chair being crowded with members having propositions to get before the House.

For the last hour of the session there was little done except the passage of a resolution making some special allowance to clerks and employes, and the usual resolutions of thanks to clerks, sergeant-at-arms, etc.

Dawes, Maynard and Cox were appointed a committee to notify the President that the House was ready to adjourn, and a few minutes before twelve, Dawes made a report that the President had nothing further to communicate.

At 12 o'clock the Speaker's gavel fell, and he took a farewell of the House in a short address, after which the great crowd dispersed and members bade each other good-bye.

OREGON.

The meanest thief in Oregon stole the chickens of a deaf and dumb family at Salem a few nights ago.

There is said to be very little hay or even oat straw for sale between Corvallis and Salem along the road.

The total taxable property assessed in the Salem school district is $1,283,838, and the number of legal voters 423.

The Salem Statesman says: "A regular old-fashion down-east snow storm was going on in Dallas, Polk county, when the stage left there Wednesday morning."

M. V. Brown, State Printer, will deliver to the Secretary of State during the coming week, all completed, the House journals, laws and supreme court decisions.

The business houses were closed at Salem during the ceremonies at the funeral of the late R. C. Kinney, in token of the esteem in which the deceased was held by the citizens.

J. B. Harford has mysteriously disappeared from Salem, and it is feared some fatal accident has befallen him. If he is living any one knowing his whereabouts will confer a favor by addressing Mr. John Gilmore, Salem, Oregon.

Mr. Lewis Pettyjohn, of Salem, has another letter from Antelope, Wasco county, which says: "The weather has been colder than Greenland, but is pleasant and warm now. The Des Chutes river froze over for the first time known. A great many cattle and sheep froze to death. One man on Upper Ochoco (Coon, of Linn county,) had 800 sheep, and all are dead but 140. Al. Pettyjohn, has lost about 40 and all the lambs."

The State Board of Land Commissioners met Tuesday and adjourned until Thursday morning. The case before the Board is Hiram Smith vs. W. N. Vaughn, parties of Tillamook, each of whom claim valuable tide lands adjoining the lands of Vaughn. J. J. Shaw appeared for defendant, and the adjournment is for the purpose of enabling P. L. Willis to appear for plaintiff. The case is important in its value and will decide important questions to rule in such matters hereafter.

The Record of the 3d says: "Hon. A. H. Brown, State treasurer, received, by private hand, to-day, $4430 26—the amount due the State. The treasury has also received by mail in a registered letter, a remittance from the treasurer of Grant county that comes in very compact shape, $500 in coin, soldered up in a shape something like a sardine box. The treasurer has not yet paid any penitentiary warrants, but his disbursements the last three days amount to $20,000 and a trifle over."

Mr. Harpole writes to the Record from Olex postoffice, Wasco county, under date of Feb. 22d, and says: "The snow was at no time over nine inches deep this winter and stock wintered without any feed, only the natural pasture. The snow has now disappeared and we are having the finest of weather. I have lived in this vicinity for five years and have not had to feed over twenty days at any one time, and that was three years ago. I think we have the best place for raising stock east of the Cascades, that is, on John Day's and its tributaries, it being about centrally betwixt the Cascades and the Blue mountains. The lands on these creeks are very productive. We think it not a good crop if we don't raise 50 bushels of wheat to the acre, and 75 or 80 bushels of oats to the acre. Corn will also yield from 50 to 100 bushels to the acre; potatoes from two to three hundred bushels to the acre, and in fact all kinds of vegetables grow to an enormous size and are better flavored than in the Wallamet valley, and with but little cultivation."

Money Raising for Southern California Roads.

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—About forty of the leading citizens of this city met in the office of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad last evening, for the purpose of considering ways and means for increasing the subscriptions to stock of the road to $300,000—$180,000 having already been subscribed, including $40,000 from the country. J. M. Crawford, chief engineer of the road, made a verbal report stating that he had been authorized to proceed with the tunnel in Cajon Pass, and that an expense of $15,000 a month would complete the tunnel in 10 months. He had contracted to have a track at Truxton completed by the end of May. He is now excavating approaches to the tunnel and has 200 men. Several present offered to double their assessments. During the evening $31,000 was subscribed, and a committee was appointed to canvass the city. It is expected the full amount of $300,000 will be raised before April.

THE MISSISSIPPI TROUBLES.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, February 26.—Representatives Speer, of Pennsylvania, and O'Brien, of Indiana, the minority of the special committee to investigate affairs in Missisippi, make a report, and represent that in Vicksburg and Warren county, 90 per cent of the taxes, which are so great as to almost amount to confiscation, are paid by the whites, while the offices are controlled by a corrupt ring of colored politicians, who use their positions to plunder the people and screen the perpetrators of this plundering, and that Crosby, the colored sheriff, was a member and a tool of this ring; that the Taxpayers' League was organized irrespective of party, with the object, openly stated, of securing capable officials and an honest Government; that the sheriff's and tax collector's bonds were utterly worthless, and that the board of supervisors, though advised of the fact, refused to compel Crosby to make them good, and hence taxpayers were justified in demanding Crosby's resignation, which was voluntarily given, and not the result of violence or threats; that the conflict of the 7th of December, resulting in the killing of two whites and 24 colored men, was wholly caused by an armed attempt of negroes of Warren county to invade Vicksburg, at the instigation of Crosby, who was encouraged and supported by Governor Ames; that the defense of the city was made under the direction of the mayor, and was entirely justified by the law of self-protection; that any other course would have been cruelty to the families of both races; that there is not and has not been any organized resistance at Vicksburg by whites to lawful authority, but on the contrary they are sincerely desirous of preserving peace, owning as they do nearly all the property and paying nearly all the taxes; and that the patience they exhibit under an accumulation of wrongs and outrages, such as inhabitants of a Northern city would not tolerate a day, is a marvel of our civilization; that there is no White League in Mississippi whose object is to deny the blacks any right or privilege guaranteed by law; that Governor Ames' call on the President for troops was based on false partisan statements. The report concludes with the opinion that the State can only be restored to prosperity by restoring to the people an honest government and the control of their own affairs, without federal interference.

THE FORCE BILL.

[From the S. F. Bulletin.]

The bill over which the Lower House of Congress is now laboring, upon which it has been sitting up all night, and known as the Force bill, was denounced with great severity by Speaker Blaine in the caucus where it originated. He said that he, for one, was not willing to vote to familiarize the people of Maine with United States marshals and suspensions of the great writ of habeas corpus in times of peace, for the bill will apply to his State as well as to the South. Probably if an older phraseology should be applied to it, it might, without any violation of the truth, be designated a bill to convert the Presidency into a military dictatorship. But important though it is, there has not been much debate upon it. The country generally is not apprized of the reasons which necessitate a resort to such an extreme measure. There is an allegation that the South is again in a rebellious and discontented mood, but facts are not plentiful in that connection. The fraudulent installation of Kellogg in the office of governor of Louisiana in 1872, and the fraudulent dissipation of the conservative majority in 1874, do not establish it. The antics of Moses, the late bandit governor of South Carolina, cannot be quoted in support of the passage of the Force bill. The intrigues of Clayton and Dorsey to throw Arkansas into a state of anarchy when it is peacefully reconstructing its shattered society are not arguments to be used in its favor. As the Springfield Republican in a late article on this subject, reviving an epigram of the old chartist times in England, remarked, "it is bad when the extinguisher takes fire." When the very machinery which has been invented to suppress popular conflagrations is itself afire there is no telling what is going to happen. At this moment so far as the general news goes, the country seems to be in a fair state of quietude. It is not easy to discover any point where any very serious dislocation is observable. It would seem in a sense true it is the government itself that is in a state of semi-insurrection. It is from Washington that the repose of the country is threatened.

THE LOUISIANA COMPROMISE.—Washington, Feb. 26.—Zachary, of the Louisiana Conservative Committee, to-day presented to Representative Wheeler a letter of acceptance by the Conservative caucus of his compromise measure. It is understood that the entire Congressional committee will remain here till after the adjournment of Congress, then canvass the returns, which will be forwarded here, and the result will be carried to New Orleans by Wheeler and put into effect under his personal supervision.

CHARLES SNOWDEN FAIRFAX.

Here is another of Mr. Thomas B. Merry's Cameos of Biography the reading of which makes one wish that the author had a larger audience than can be expected among the readers of the Coos Bay News.

PEOPLE I HAVE MET, OR THE MEN AND MANNERS OF EARLY CALIFORNIA.

Sitting down to recall forms long departed, how vividly every recollection of them comes back to one's mind. Their faces seem frescoed on the very walls about me, just as though

"Last noon beheld them full of lusty life,
Last eve in beauty's circle, proudly gay."

And the tones of their once familiar voices echo about me so that the room seems filled with whispers from the lips that once glowed with ruddy life but now are forever mute and cold. One of these faces that is depicted too vividly upon memory's tablets ever to be obliterated, was that of

CHARLES SNOWDEN FAIRFAX.

Born in Virginia, of Scottish ancestors. He came to California in 1849 and settled near Marysville, where he soon became popular with all the leading Democrats and entered upon political life. He owned a portion of the Moraal Rancho, where he entertained his friends in a style that was not surpassable. No man better understood the art of giving good dinners, or was better qualified to preside at them, than "Charley" Fairfax. This gentleman was the real heir to a marquisate in Scotland, but as the estates were totally bankrupt he declined to go and assume the title. We all remember the motto of the grand old Duke de Rohan:

"*Roi je ne suis
Impereur je ne puis
Rohan,—toujours!*"

There was something of that lofty and self-conscious pride about this noble young man, who would be but forty-five years old if he were alive to-day. He would rather have been "Charley" Fairfax, the thoroughbred American gentleman, than a dozen lords in Scotland. So he came to California, and was a moving spirit of the pell-mell era so exciting that its recital to-day seems more like tradition than history.

Oh! but he was a prince at heart and an Apollo in presence. Not very tall, but slender and straight as a Parthian arrow. His raven hair clustered about a brow that seemed hewn by the chisel of Praxiteles, and his classically moulded face had more of America's bronze than of England's blush. His finely cut mouth and lips bespoke the man of lofty pride, who could face death always—dishonor never; and his dark, lambent eye was brilliant as that of a mountain deer. It was hardly an American face, but such a one as you would look for along the Rialto of Venice, or the Marallo del Mar in Havana. Yet it was the face of one from whose veins the Latin blood had long since ebbed away, if ever it flowed there at all. His carriage was grace itself, the finely arched foot barely touching the earth, as he strode along with such an aplomb as Raffaelle might have postponed for St. Michael.

In 1859, he was elected clerk of the supreme court, on the same ticket with Milton S. Latham and John G. Downey. The office at that time was worth $20,000 per year as the clerk got all the fees and paid all his labor out of the proceeds. Now the briefs and transcripts are all printed, instead of being engrossed, and the clerk gets a salary of $4,000 per year. Immediately on assuming the duties of his office, he appointed as his deputy, Mr. David T. Bagley, the present secretary of the "Consolidated Virginia" mine. The reporter of that court was Harvey Lee, formerly a prominent lawyer of Placerville. In the summer of 1860, he and Mr. Fairfax had some words about the manner in which the official duties had conflicted. About two hours afterward, the parties met again in the vestibule of the St. George Hotel, when Lee drew a long sword, from a hollow cane which he held in his hand, and ran Fairfax through the body. The latter drew his revolver and covered Lee's head. Then "the blood of all the Howards," mantled his cheeks, as he lowered the hammer of the weapon, saying:

"Lee, you have a wife and children!" He fell to the ground as he said this, and was carried to his room insensible. It was several months before he was about the streets again, but I certainly think him the greatest hero I ever saw. Not one man in a million could have performed an act of such appalling valor.

One day in November 1861, there came a coffin to San Francisco, a casket which contained all that was earthly of the brilliant and gifted Baker immolated wantonly at the Ball's Bluff slaughter-pen. With dirges of decorous grief mournfully floating upward, the Queen of the West was bewailing her noble son. The "grave and reverend" men of all professions were there, to pay the last tribute of honor to the memory of one whose wisdom and eloquence were equalled only by his spotless valor. Among that throng was Fairfax, the saddest looking man of all. Some ill-bred boor said to him.

"Well, Mr. Fairfax, I'm surprised to see you at the funeral of a Federal General; but I suppose you would be willing to go to one, every day in the week."

"Silence sir, you are in the presence of the dead. I knew Col. Baker only as an American gentleman!"

I have before alluded to Harvey Lee, as leniently as possible under the circumstances. Seven years after his attack upon Fairfax, he came to a most frightful death. Governor Low (big-hearted, whole-souled gentleman that he is,) had appointed him Judge of a newly created Judicial District on the Eastern slope of the Sierras. His circuit was a long one and required a good team of horses to carry him across it. He bought a team and buggy in Sacramento, and went out one morning to try them at the Park. He had driven around the track but once when the horses became frightened and ran away. Always a delicate, timid man, Lee was soon overpowered and thrown out. His head struck a fence post and he was picked up dead.

The following winter the legislature met and Haight was inaugurated as Governor. The watchword was retrenchment and reform; hence when a bill was introduced to pay the widow of Judge Lee a quarter's salary (though he had never held court a single day,) there was some opposition to it. But the bill finally passed both Houses, though it was rumored that the Governor might veto it. Hearing that there was ground for a belief of this kind, Fairfax went to Governor Haight and pleaded so earnestly for the destitute wife and children, that the Executive approval was given to the bill and the desolate home was once more made cheerful. Does history, ancient or modern, afford a more exalted specimen of moral courage, or tell us of a nobler revenge?

Poor fellow, he was the most hearty of friends, the most genial of companions; always the champion of the weak and the comforter of the needy. He died in 1869, while on a visit to relatives in Virginia, and when a post mortem examination of his remains was made, the physician probed the old wound. He laid down his knife with professional coolness and merely said to a few of his friends, who stood by:

"You say this occurred nine years ago? Strange, it hadn't killed him before."

Life has already passed by me in the mantling blush of youth, and the summer of manhood is nearly half spent, but the proud form of Fairfax will linger forever in my memory, consecrated by a thousand tender recollections of one who was the soul of honor and the personification of valor. Broad waves roar between my Oregon home and the green mound where he sleeps, on which I come to drop this humble sprig of sea-coast pine.

"I will and bequeath," said Pat, "to my beloved wife Bridget all my property, without reserve, to my eldest son Patrick one-half of the remainder, and to Dennis, my youngest son, the rest. If anything is left, it may go to Terence O'Carty, in sweet Ireland."

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

AMENDED CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry was amended in several particulars at the recent session of the National Grange at Charleston, S. C. We give below, for the benefit of our Granger readers, the Constitution as amended:

PREAMBLE.

Human happiness is the acme of earthly ambition. Individual happiness depends upon general prosperity.

The prosperity of a nation is in proportion to the value of its productions.

The soil is the source from whence we derive all that constitutes wealth; without it we would have no agriculture, no manufactures, no commerce. Of all the material gifts of the Creator, the various productions of the vegetable world are of the first importance. The art of agriculture is the parent and precursor of all arts, and its products the foundation of all wealth.

The productions of the earth are subject to the influence of natural laws, invariable and indisputable; the amount produced will consequently be in proportion to the intelligence of the producer, and success will depend upon his knowledge of the action of these laws, and the proper application of their principles.

Hence, knowledge is the foundation of happiness.

The ultimate object of this organization is for mutual instruction and protection, to lighten labor by diffusing a knowledge of its aims and purposes, expand the mind by tracing the beautiful laws the Great Creator has established in the Universe, and to enlarge our views of Creative wisdom and power.

To those who read aright, history proves that in all ages society is fragmentary, and successful results of general welfare can be secured only by general effort. Unity of action cannot be acquired without discipline, and discipline cannot be enforced without significant organization; hence we have a ceremony of initiation which binds us in mutual fraternity as with a band of iron; but although its influence is so powerful, its application is as gentle as that of the silken thread that binds a wreath of flowers.

The Patrons of Husbandry consists of the following:

Organization.

SUBORDINATE GRANGES.

First Degree—Maid (woman), Laborer, (man.)

Second Degree—Shepherdess (woman), Cultivator (man.)

Third Degree—Gleaner (woman), Harvester (man.)

Fourth Degree—Matron (woman), Husbandman (man.)

STATE GRANGE.

SECTION 1. Fifth Degree—Pomona (Hope.) Composed of the Masters of Subordinate Granges and their wives, who are Matrons, provided that when the number of Subordinate Granges in any State becomes so great as to render it necessary, the State Grange may, in such manner as it may determine, reduce its representatives, by providing for the election of a certain proportion of those entitled to membership in the State Grange from each county; and the members so chosen shall constitute the State Grange.

SEC. 2. There may be established District or County Granges in the fifth degree, not to exceed one in each county, composed of Masters and Past Masters of Subordinate Granges, and their wives who are Matrons, and such fourth-degree members (not to exceed three) as may be elected thereto by the Subordinate Granges, under such regulations as may be established by State Granges. Such District or County Granges shall have charge of the education and business interests of the Order in their respective districts; and shall encourage, strengthen and aid the Subordinate Granges represented therein. Dispensations for such District or County Granges shall issue from the State Grange, and under such regulations as the State Grange may adopt.

Seventh Degree—Ceres (Faith.)

Members of the National Grange who have served one year therein may become members of this degree upon application and election. It has charge of the secret work of the Order, and shall be a court of impeachment of all officers of the National Grange.

Members of this degree are honorary members of the National Grange, and are eligible to offices therein, but not entitled to vote.

All elections to be by ballot.

SEC. 2. State Granges shall meet annually at such time and place as the Grange shall from year to year determine.

SEC. 3. The National Grange shall meet annually on the third Wednesday in November, at such place as the Grange may from year to year determine. Should the National Grange adjourn without selecting the place of meeting, the executive committee shall appoint the place and notify the secretary of the National Grange and the masters of State Granges, at least thirty days before the day appointed.

ARTICLE III.—LAWS.

The National Grange, at its annual session, may frame, amend or repeal such laws as the good of the order may require. All laws of State and Subordinate Granges must conform to this constitution and the laws adopted by the National Grange.

The ritual adopted by the National Grange shall be used by all Subordinate Granges, and any desired alteration in the same must be submitted to and receive the sanction of the National Grange.

ARTICLE V.—MEMBERSHIP.

Any person engaged in agricultural pursuits and having no interest in conflict with our purposes, of the age of sixteen years, duly proposed, elected, and complying with the rules and regulations of the order, is entitled to membership and the benefit of the degrees taken. Every application must be accompanied by the fee of membership. If rejected, the money will be refunded. Applications must be certified by members, and balloted for at a subsequent meeting. It shall require three negative votes to reject an applicant.

The minimum fee for membership in a subordinate Grange shall be, for men five dollars, and for women two dollars, for the four degrees, except charter members, who shall pay men three dollars, and women fifty cents.

ARTICLE VII.—DUES.

SECTION 1. The minimum of regular monthly dues shall be ten cents from each member, and each Grange may otherwise regulate its own dues.

SEC. 2. The Secretary of each Subordinate Grange shall report quarterly to the State Grange the names of all persons initiated during the quarter, and pay to the Secretary of the State Grange one dollar for each man, and fifty cents for each woman, initiated during the quarter; also a quarterly due of six cents for each member; said report to be approved and forwarded at the first session of the Grange in each quarter.

SEC. 3. The Secretary of the State Grange shall pay to the Treasurer of the State Grange all moneys coming into his hands, at least once every ten days, taking his receipt therefor; and shall report quarterly to the Secretary of the National Grange, the membership in the State.

The Treasurer of each State Grange shall deposit to the credit of the National Grange of Patrons of Husbandry, with some banking or trust company (to be selected by the Executive Committee), in quarterly installments, the annual due of five cents for each member in his State, and forward the receipts for the same to the Treasurer of the National Grange.

SEC. 5. All moneys deposited with said company shall be paid out only upon the drafts of the Treasurer, approved by the Master, and countersigned by the Secretary.

SEC. 5. Fifteen subordinate Granges working in a State can apply for authority to organize a State Grange.

SEC. 6. Where State Granges are organized, dispensations for the organization of the subordinate Granges, heretofore issued, shall be replaced by charter from the National Grange without further fee, and thereafter all applications for charters for subordinate Granges shall pass through the office of the Master of the State Grange, and must be approved by him before they are issued by the National Grange. When so issued, the charter shall pass through the office of the secretary of the State Grange and receive the signature and official seal of that office.

SEC. 7. No Grange shall confer more than one degree on the same person at the same meeting.

ARTICLE IX.—DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

The duties of the officers of the National, State, and Subordinate Grange shall be prescribed by the laws of the same.

ARTICLE X.—TREASURERS.

SECTION 1. The treasurer of the National, State, and Subordinate Grange, shall give bonds, to be approved by the officers of their respective Granges.

SEC. 2. In all Granges bills must be approved by the Master, and countersigned by the secretary, before the treasurer can pay the same.

ARTICLE XI.—RESTRICTIONS.

Religious or political questions will not be tolerated as subjects of discussion in the work of the order, and no political or religious tests for membership shall be applied.

ARTICLE XII.

The Master of the National Grange and the members of the executive committee shall be empowered to suspend from office any officer of the National Grange who may prove inefficient or derelict in the discharge of his duty, subject to appeal to the next session thereafter of the National Grange.

ARTICLE XIII.—AMENDMENTS.

This constitution can be altered or amended by a two thirds vote of the National Grange at any annual meeting, and when such alterations or amendment shall have been ratified by three-fourths of the State Granges, and the same reported to the secretary of the National Grange, it shall be of full force.

THE TERRITORIES.

John Wood, of Olympia, has been held to answer to a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

Mr. M. C. Simmons, of Oyster Bay, W. T., will start a logging camp at the head of that bay for Capt. Renton, of the Blakeley mill.

Bishop Spalding, of Colorado, has deposed John C. Fitnam, a presbyter of his jurisdiction, from the sacred ministry, in accordance with canon 5, title 11 (2) of the digest. Fitnam was an editor, and might have known the two offices wouldn't work well together.

A stock man informs the Walla Walla Statesman that in Walla Walla valley there is not 30 tons of hay for sale. Every thing has been eaten up slick and clean; and unless the spring grass puts in an early appearance even pet animals will have to go on short commons.

After the question of the expediency of having any more Chinamen come to this coast, had been settled in the negative by nearly every debating club in the country we think the Olympia club did wrong in deciding it the other way a few evenings since, and leaving us liable to be "floodgated" with Celestial immigrants.

Eight large business blocks, mostly brick, have been erected in Canyon City, Colorado, since last July, according to the Avalanche. In addition to these there were built fifty odd dwelling-houses. The whole cost of buildings of all classes for the period named is given by the Avalanche at $111,880. A court-house, to cost several thousand dollars, is among contemplated improvements.

Mr. J. Mackin informs the Walla Walla Statesman that the prolonged spell of cold weather was terribly disastrous to the fruit trees in this valley. In some places the peach trees are killed outright. Mr. Mackin thinks the coming season will show the peach crop an entire failure. The apple, pear, plum and cherry trees have all suffered. This is more especially the case in the neighborhood of town, but it is believed that throughout the valley the orchards have been greatly damaged.

The Silver City, Idaho, Avalanche, says: "The prospect for lively times the coming spring are decidedly brighter than ever before known in this camp. All the mines on War Eagle mountain were never in such good shape for yielding large quantities of ore as they are at present, and preparations are being made for a vigorous mining campaign during the coming summer. Besides the mines already in operation, other new enterprises are projected which will greatly add to the industry and mineral product of our camp. The two smelting furnaces at South Mountain will turn out ten tons of bullion per day, the transportation of which to Winnemucca will give employment to all the teams in the Territory."

WIDOW WORTH HAVING.—Widow Phila Lambert, of West Georgia, Vt., fifty-six years old, has for fifteen years supported eight children by laying stone wall, harvesting, and other heavy farm work, and has not only made herself owner of a house and a few acres of land, but has given her children a good education.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1875.

THAT MARK LANE REPORT.

On the 3d of February the Bulletin published the following dispatch:

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Mark Lane Express says late floods and shipwrecks have done great damage. Dry samples of wheat are unusually scarce. The downward tendency is less marked, though heavy arrivals prevent a rise in prices.

This was not contained in the OREGONIAN's commercial telegrams, and the Bulletin made a great ado over the omission, alleging it was intentionally made to bear the wheat market. And only a day or two ago the subject was again referred to in the same strain. But now the Mark Lane Express' actual report reaches us by mail, and discloses the reason that the telegram in question was not sent to the OREGONIAN. That reason is, the OREGONIAN publishes truthful reports, and the Bulletin's telegram was an untruthful one. The Mark Lane Express did not say any such thing as reported by the Bulletin's lying dispatch, gotten up purposely to lay the foundation for a hue and cry by the Bulletin and to deceive the farmers, who are the persons most injured by the publication of unreliable market reports. Here is what the Mark Lane Express did say, and all it said:

"The weather during the past week having continued mild and rainy, many places have become flooded, and much damage has been done, while frequent storms have added to our shipping disasters, and a change is very much to be desired to ameliorate the condition of the wheat, dry samples having become uncommonly scarce. The downward tendency of prices is less marked, though some markets have further given way 1s per quarter, and the good arrivals of foreign prevent any rise in old wheat. If we get no change before the March winds come we may expect another month of dull reports; but with a free use of the low quality of wheat for cattle feed, the consumption must be enormously increased, and eventually tell upon prices. Much the same condition of things is noted in France. The value of wheat has been unchanged there as well as in the provinces, many markets being scantily provided, either from the roughness of the weather or a reluctance to sell. Our last week's sales were only 1,962 quarters above those of 1874, while the price was 19s 6d per quarter less; so that farmers may well hesitate to force their produce, when in poor condition, upon reluctant buyers. In Belgium and Holland there has been scarcely any change, but Germany has rather given way, and low qualities in Dantzic have been further reduced 1s per quarter. The frost was broken up in several places sufficiently for steamers to make way, but it now and then returned with severity. In Hungary hard weather had quite given away, but business was very heavy, and wheat procurable on easier terms, though buyers still kept aloof. In Denmark, with broken weather, wheat tended downward; Egypt remained dull for all sorts of corn."

This is quite a different report, when it comes to be examined, from that of the Bulletin's telegram.

As in the case of the vote on the Salt Lake railway bill, so in this case we have proved by the record that the Bulletin has been untruthful. Farmers can not afford to forget that the ring organ is still their enemy, as it was from the first, and that it will deceive them without a moment's hesitation, if by so doing it may hope to gain a point on an adversary. The "doctoring" of a wheat report in order to gain a momentary advantage, is in perfect keeping with other practices of which the ring organ has been lately convicted.

THE MARRIAGE OF THE TRANSPORTATION COMPANIES.

The news of the sale of a controlling interest in the stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to the Union and Central Pacific Railway Companies, is particularly cheering intelligence to the people of the Pacific States and Territories. The terminating of a long and exhaustive contest and the substituting therefor of that "balmy peace" which formed the basis of the policy of Mr. Peter Bayne's life, is ever a pleasant thing to contemplate. There is nothing nicer to think of than the Capulets and the Montagues in bed together and "spooning" to each other as lovingly as twin babies. And then to reflect that, to adopt the exact language of the telegram that announced the transaction, there is to be "an immediate increase of freight and passage rates on both lines!" So the happiness of these good people in consequence of the end of their "late onpleasantness" is augmented by the prospects of larger dividends. Why should they not be happy! The people can stand a little more pressure. One more turn of the screw to-day and another to-morrow will not quite palsy the entire productive industries of the country, will not quite reduce the farmers and mechanics to a condition that will make further production impossible. Then why not turn the screw again? After a while there will be still another advance in rates of freight and passage. That will be whenever there is a demand for an extra amount of money to be used in the purchase of a competing line of railway across the continent. It is a way these great corporations have. When they buy off an opposing company they make such additional charges for their services as soon provides the means to meet the extra draught on their finances. Thus it will be seen, it is not the rival corporation but the people that pay the purchase money.

JOHN BROWN TESTIMONIAL.

The extreme radicals of Paris have presented Mrs. Mary A. Brown, widow of the old hero of Ossawottomie, with a testimonial in the shape of a gold medal. The subscription for the purpose was opened before the Franco-German war, but that event put a stop to it. Thus the matter rested till after the close of the war. But it was not forgotten, and as soon as times were sufficiently quiet the movers commenced work again. The medal which weighs five ounces, was manufactured at Brussels. On one side is the image of John Brown, while the other bears an inscription commemorative of the circumstances of his death in Virginia, Dec. 2, 1859.

The committee charged with the duty of making the presentation had very considerable difficulty in finding out how to send the testimonial so as to make sure of its reaching the identical Mrs. Brown who had been the companion of the famous martyr before his body lay mouldering in the ground and his soul went marching on. They found out that she was a resident of California, and were informed that she resided at Red Bluff, but inquiry there proved that was not the right point. Then they learned that she was at Rohnesville, Humboldt county, and thither they sent a letter of inquiry as to how they should address the medal. She answered simply, "Mary A. Brown, Rohnesville, Humboldt county, California." There are too many Marys and too many Browns to make it safe to read an article of that kind in that way. Then they had recourse to Wm. Lloyd Garrison, who is supposed to know everybody and everything concerning anti-slavery heroes, and he certified to them that the woman at Rohnesville was unquestionably, and to his own certain knowledge, the relict of the invader of the Old Dominion, and undertook, moreover, to take charge of the medal, and see that it was safely delivered to Mrs. Brown. This testimonial is accompanied by a letter to Mrs. Brown from the committee, expressing sentiments in accord with those which actuated John Brown during his life, and bearing the signatures of Victor Hugo, Louis Blanc, V. Schoelcher, Patrice Larroque, Eugene Pelletan, Melvil-Bloncourt, Capron, Ch. L. Chassin, Etienne Arago, Laurent-Pichat and L. Gornes.

"SOLELY ON POLITICAL GROUNDS."

The straits to which the party organs are sometimes brought by the necessities of their position, have a striking illustration in the following paragraph from the New Haven Journal and Courier:

We find it hard, and expect to find it hard throughout the campaign, to oppose the re-election of Gov. Ingersoll. We do oppose it solely on political grounds. Personally, we have the highest regard for Gov. Ingersoll, and consider him one of the best chief magistrates which the State of Connecticut has ever had."

"Solely on political grounds!" If Governor Ingersoll is "one of the best Chief Magistrates which the State of Connecticut ever had," what "political ground" can there be for opposing his re-election? That is the highest "political ground" for advocating it instead of opposing it. The Journal and Courier misused a word. It is not "political" but "party" grounds on which it opposes Ingersoll's re-election. Now, wherein is the sense of all this sort of thing? Why not come out and say that since Ingersoll, though a Democrat, is "one of the best Chief Magistrates Connecticut ever had," and is so good a man in other respects, he ought to be re-elected. That would be sensible. It would be acting like rational beings. The best Chief Magistrate is exactly the man who ought to be Chief Magistrate, no matter what his political creed may be. This acknowledging that a man is in every way just the right man for the position, and then opposing his election because of some peculiar notion he has about the constitution of the moon, or because he believes in astrology, is the height of absurdity.

A prominent New York journal facetiously ascribes the Brooklyn scandal to "that remarkable idiosyncrasy which prompts the men to let their hair grow long and the women to crop theirs." There is a philosophy under that suggestion.

In 1861 Andrew Johnson was burned in effigy in Memphis, Tennessee. In 1875 he is received with such loud acclaim as never greeted any other man in that goodly city.

Hon. T. R. Harrison has been confirmed by the Senate as receiver of the land office at Oregon City. Hon. Owen Wade is re-appointed as register.

It is claimed by interested parties that the abandonment of the moiety system in collecting the revenues has resulted in a vast increase of smuggling.

Anna Dickinson is said to be preparing two more lectures, one on "Robert Emmet," and the other on "The Sisters of Charity."

The Washington Chronicle is issued with illustrations every Sunday.

The Delaware legislature has not a single lawyer in it.

EVARTS AND TILTON.

Mr. Evarts' efforts as the leading counsel against Theodore Tilton are a labor of love. It is even said he went into the case voluntarily, in order to get even with Tilton on an old score. Thus far Tilton appears to have proved quite equal to the lawyer, and the latter has made but indifferent progress in getting even. The nature of the quarrel is explained by the Graphic:

"IN THE SPRING OF 1868

the country was in a ferment of excitement in regard to the impeachment of Andrew Johnson. The Independent was excessively bitter against the President, and some of Theodore Tilton's most fiery and impassioned leading articles were written in this sense. He beheld in Andrew Johnson a traitor to the cause of the negro, to the Republican party, and even to the country itself. Great then was his indignation when it was announced that Mr. Evarts had consented to defend the President. On May 1st there appeared a leader of his upon the subject, in which Mr. Evarts was denounced with wonderful ability.

The article was called 'The Soldier of a Fair Name,' and began with the remark:

'A GREAT MAN'S HONOR,

if unsullied, is a coronet upon his head to mark him a prince among men. But this diadem is not of gold that no rust can corrupt, nor of jewels that no mold can blight. Borrowing its lustre solely from virtue, it can be stained by any touch of baseness.' It then proceeds to say; 'Mr. Evarts, counsel for the President, has pawned his honor for a lawyer's fee. The charge is grave, but true. Let us substantiate it. A conspicuous actor in Republican conventions, a trusted adviser in Republican councils, an ambitious orator before Republican assemblages, a once beaten but still aspiring candidate for the United States Senatorship, a leading Republican member of the recent New York State Constitutional Convention, Mr. Evarts was summoned to the President's defense, not because he was a shining light in the legal profession, but because he was an influential leader of the Republican party. The President did not look to the bar of New York to hire its most skillful advocate, but to buy its most serviceable Republican. If Mr. Johnson had been in quest simply of a great lawyer he would have forgotten Mr. Evarts and remembered Mr. O'Conor. But Mr. O'Conor was a Democrat, and the crafty President wanted a Republican. It was not Mr. Evarts' legal ability but his political influence that Mr. Johnson bargained for and purchased. But Mr. Evarts has thus made traffic of what among honest men is too precious to be an article of merchandise, and which no man can ever sell except by throwing his honor into the bargain.'

The article concludes thus: 'Grandson of a signer of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Evarts has put his little measure of Roger Sherman's blood to blush by bartering for a price the safety of the Republic. Sing to him Robert Browning's song:

Just for a handful of silver he left us;
Just for a ribbon to stick in his coat.

'As Mr. Evarts has refused to be a patriot for the sake of being a lawyer, let the Senate add to the loss of his honor the loss of his case.'

BUT IT DID NOT END HERE.

On the 15th of July, the same year, the President, with a very lively sense of the advantages he had derived from Mr. Evart's professional skill, offered him the position of Attorney-General, then just vacated by Mr. Stanbury. Mr. Evarts promptly accepted the office, and thereupon excited the Independent's hostility afresh. Accordingly when, in the fall, the Bar of New York offered a complimentary dinner to Mr. Evarts, Theodore Tilton wrote another very sarcastic article upon the affair. It appeared in the paper of September 8, and singularly enough opened with a reference to 'coronets' and 'honor' very much resembling the former article. It then proceeds to say:

'THE LAWYERS

who invite Mr. Evarts to dine say rashly in this invitation that the highest possible compliment which can be made to the New York bar is the fact that the President of the United States chose one of its members for Attorney-General. Now, what President chose Mr. Evarts for Attorney General? Andrew Johnson, an escaped criminal! Nor in choosing him did the wily rogue mean thereby to compliment the New York bar, but only to settle with Mr. Evarts for services rendered. Mr. Johnson had no money, but could pay his lawyer with an office; and his lawyer not needing the money accepted the office. This transaction in the judgment of a bevy of New York lawyers reflects distinguished honor on the New York bar; but unless the law has ceased to be so bright that any compliment from Andrew Johnson would fall upon it as a stain. 'Praise from Sir Hubert Stanley is praise indeed,' but praise from Mr. Evarts' guilty client and infamous chief is opprobrium and an insult * * * Even those merely blind (like the editor of the Nation), who saw no wrong in Mr. Evarts' loan of his silvery tongue to the President's cause when that traitor was impeached, have no excuse for excusing acceptance of a privy-councillorship of the Wickedest Man in the United States. * * * Alas, for human consistency! Mr. Evarts, the man who at the Cooper Institute denounced Mr. Johnson as a public enemy, now kisses his hand every Friday in Cabinet meeting. When the ghostly little attorney shall come back from Washington to New York to sit down at his public dinner how much besides his meat and drink will he have to swallow? After his table is spread let some one set before him, in an earthen dish the familiar diet of which he now partakes at the President's table—the legendary fruit which makes men who eat it forget their country.'"

Premium Carriage Factory
E. SMITH,
CARRIAGE MAKER,
Cor. Jefferson and Front Streets,
PORTLAND, OREGON.
Is now making First-Class EXPRESS WAGONS, BUGGIES and CARRIAGES of all kinds.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

At the Oregon State Fair, recently held at Salem, Mr. E. Smith was awarded the First Premiums on an Open and also on a Top Buggy. The latter was built from a design published in the June number of The Carriage Monthly, styled "Monitor Piano-Box Buggy," and elicited much admiration.—The Philadelphia Carriage Monthly.

MR. E. SMITH, of Portland, has on exhibition at the State Fair two Buggies, both Open and Top, and certainly exhibit as good workmanship as can be found on the Coast, while several very important improvements have been added, especially in ironing the same so as not to weaken the axles, by putting the bolts through the same. The commendable enterprise that Mr. Smith has displayed, we understand, is being amply rewarded in our city. He will be awarded the first Premium.—Oregonian.

MR. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, of Portland, exhibited one Open and one Covered Buggy upon the Fair Grounds, which deserve special mention. These Carriages are especially light and durable, and those in need of such a purchase—and who isn't—should call upon him before purchasing elsewhere. Of course Mr. Smith bore off the blue ribbons.—New Northwest.

MR. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, corner of Front and Jefferson streets, took two Premiums at the State Fair for First-Class Buggies. This speaks well for his work, and is a credit to Portland.—Pacific Christian Advocate.

HOME MANUFACTURE.—Mr. E. Smith, Carriage Maker, of this city, has some splendid Vehicles on exhibition at the Fair.—Temperance Star.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1875

WILL START EAST.—We were favored ye terday with a call from Mr. David L. Riggs, Salem, who will start East to-day on the Aja Mr. Riggs left Connecticut 17 years ago an has never returned to visit his old home, Ne Haven, Conn., during all that time. M Riggs is the inventor of a process for t mending of broken bells, which he has succes fully used on several church, school and othe bells here in Oregon, and it has always been a ambition with him, since he perfected that in vention to put it in practice for the repair o the Old Liberty Bell, which rang out the pe of jubilee when the Declaration of Indepen dence was signed. He bears with him letter of introduction and of indorsement from number of prominent men in Oregon and else where. As the Record says, we have no doub of his entire ability to mend it, and feel conf dent that before his return he will investigat the matter with a view to making the repair so that the old bell can become vocal again fo the centennial of next year. Liberty Bell ha been cracked and therefore useless for th greater part of the century since it rang Liberty in. Should Mr. Riggs succeed in his am bitious designs, his fame and fortune are as sured facts.

FORT COLVILLE NOTES.—We have bee handed the following, clipped from a letter o February 14th: "The thermometer is now mostly every morning down below zero. I was a great deal colder in January; have neve known as cold weather since I have been here Stock in the valley are doing well, very few dying so far. Coone had 15 head of cattle ou all winter, and he says he saw them in the White Mud Lake country. They look in firs rate order. Only a few days ago we hear, by the mail-carrier, that Wolf, who has taken some of his cattle from here to Spokane Prai rie, has lost up to the present time 35 head, and Bill Newman 5 head. I believe, after all, Col ville is the best stock country we have heard of. Seven Chinamen came down the Colum bia after supplies, and their boat split in two. The Chinamen had to swim to shore; none of them were lost. We expect a good many Chi namen here the coming season to mine on the Columbia.

THE OREGON PIONEERS.—From the Oregon City Enterprise we learn that the executive board of Oregon Pioneers have authorized J. M. Bacon and Col. White, of that city, to open a register at Oregon City for the purpos of all persons, male and female, who may under the rules choose to become members of said association. The register may be found at the Oregon City postoffice, which contains the organic rules regulating the admission of members. The object of the association is to collect from living witnesses such facts relat ing to the pioneer and early history of the Territory of Oregon as the organization may be enabled to obtain through contributions of its members or other well authenticated sources. To promote social intercourse among the pioneers, their children and friends, etc. A grand reunion of pioneers will be had on the 15th of June next, at the State Fair grounds at Salem.

THE NEW STEAMER.—We made mention some time since of the fact that the W. R. T. Co. contemplated the construction of a light draught boat this spring, designed expressly for the Upper Wallamet trade, and that the contract was awarded Mr. Steffen, the well known boat builder. All the timber, knees, etc., for the hull have been prepared, and are ready to set in position on short notice. Mr. Steffen informs us that he proposes to commence work on the new boat about the latter part of next week. The keel will be laid at the upper sawmill. The machinery formerly used on the Shoshone will be overhauled and placed in the new craft. The dimensions of the boat according the plans are: length 155 feet, beam 35 feet, hold 4½ feet.

DIED.—Some weeks ago we published the particulars of the burning of a man named J. J. Spencer, in a cabin a few miles southwest of the city. This unfortunate man became intoxicated, and falling into the fire, had his right arm, leg and side horribly burned. Great chunks of flesh fell away from his side and limbs from the effects of the burn, leaving the white bones visible. He lingered in great pain, and no hopes were entertained for his recovery. On the 5th of February Spencer was removed to the poor-house. He was attended by a physician, and everything done to prolong his miserable existence, but in vain. He lingered until Tuesday last, when death gave him relief from all bodily suffering.

HORSE DEAD.—A large brown and finely formed horse belonging to the O. T. Co. took sick a few days ago and died at the company's stables yesterday morning. Everything was done to save the life of the valuable animal, but all to no purpose. The horse was one of the most handsome and highly prized animals which belong to the company. The lifeless carcass was placed on a truck and taken on board the railroad ferryboat. When the ferryboat had reached about the middle of the river the body was rolled off into the stream and floated away.

MONTHLY MISSIONARY CONCERT.—The missionary concert for March of the Taylor street M. E. Sunday School will take place next Sabbath at 2 P. M. An interesting and profitable selection of exercises is in preparation by the committee, including solos, duets and choruses, recitations and readings. A class exercise, entitled, "Come over and help us," and another, entitled "Insects of the Bible," by a class of little ones, are among the pieces; also, a mission song by the infant class. The address will be delivered by J. W. Robb, Esq.

WASHINGTON GUARD—ELECTION.—Last evening the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Horatio Cooke, Captain; A. J. Sutherland, 1st Lieutenant; James Liddy, 2d Lieutenant; John Farrow, J. P. Schroeffel, E. B. Gardner, P. Maloney, H. P. Harte, Sergeants in the order given; W. H. O'Donald, Secretary; John Farrow, Treasurer. Captain John M. Gearin, of the Commander-in Chief's staff, was present. We believe nearly all the above officers served in similar positions last year.

COMMISSION OF EMIGRATION.—Gov. Grover has issued a commission appointing John P. Sheffield, Honorary Commissioner of Emigration to Oregon for the county of Leicester, England. A commission has been issued appointing Wm. Blood a Commissioner of Emigration to this State for Liverpool, England. Mr. Blood is Secretary to the Chamber of Commerce in Liverpool. Both commissions were received yesterday by Wm. Reid, Esq., and will be forwarded to their destinations without delay.

INSANE CHINAMAN.—A Chinaman named Long Yet was taken into custody yesterday who, from his strange and unnatural actions, was deemed insane. He was talking in a loud tone and gesticulating in an excited manner when found by the officer. He was taken to the city jail, and was so violent that it was found necessary to place him in a dark cell. To-day the deranged Celestial will probably be examined by the proper authorities, and if adjudged insane be sent to the asylum.

FINED.—Yesterday morning a Celestial named Wong Buck, residing on Alder street, was arrested for throwing broken glass out into the street, which is prohibited by ordinance. Wong Buck, for his wholesome disregard of "Melican" municipal regulations, was accorded the privilege of paying the sum of $5 and costs, which he did with "native grace" and took his departure from the precincts of justice.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, March 4, 1875:

OUR AMATEUR PAPERS.—The publishers of the Archangel intend to enlarge their paper. Next month it will contain eight pages. This indicates improvement. The Oregon Amateur will be printed on tinted paper with blue ink, hereafter. Both these papers present a very neat and tasty appearance, and the selection of reading matter indicates care and research on the part of the editors.

RIPTIONS A SPECIALTY

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1875.

CITY.

WILL START EAST.—We were favored yesterday with a call from Mr. David L. Riggs, of Salem, who will start East to-day on the Ajax. Mr. Riggs left Connecticut 17 years ago, and has never returned to visit his old home, New Haven, Conn., during all that time. Mr. Riggs is the inventor of a process for the mending of broken bells, which he has successfully used on several church, school and other bells here in Oregon, and it has always been an ambition with him, since he perfected that invention to put it in practice for the repair of the Old Liberty Bell, which rang out the peal of jubilee when the Declaration of Independence was signed. He bears with him letters of introduction and of indorsement from a number of prominent men in Oregon and elsewhere. As the Record says, we have no doubt of his entire ability to mend it, and feel confident that before his return he will investigate the matter with a view to making the repairs, so that the old bell can become vocal again for the centennial of next year. Liberty Bell has been cracked and therefore useless for the greater part of the century since it rang Liberty. Should Mr. Riggs succeed in his ambitious designs, his fame and fortune are assured facts.

FORT COLVILLE NOTES.—We have been handed the following, clipped from a letter of February 14th: "The thermometer is now mostly every morning down below zero. It was a great deal colder in January; have never known as cold weather since I have been here. Stock in the valley are doing well, very few dying so far. Coone had 15 head of cattle out all winter, and he says he saw them in the White Mud Lake country. They look in first rate order. Only a few days ago we hear, by the mail-carrier, that Wolf, who has taken some of his cattle from here to Spokane Prairie, has lost up to the present time 35 head, and Bill Newman 5 head. I believe, after all, Colville is the best stock country we have heard of. Seven Chinamen came down the Columbia after supplies, and their boat split in two. The Chinamen had to swim to shore; none of them were lost. We expect a good many Chinamen here the coming season to mine on the Columbia."

THE OREGON PIONEERS.—From the Oregon City Enterprise we learn that the executive board of Oregon Pioneers have authorized J. M. Bacon and Col. White, of that city, to open a register at Oregon City for the purpose of all persons, male and female, who may under the rules choose to become members of said association. The register may be found at the Oregon City postoffice, which contains the organic rules regulating the admission of members. The object of the association is to collect from living witnesses such facts relating to the pioneer and early history of the Territory of Oregon as the organization may be enabled to obtain through contributions of its members or other well authenticated sources. To promote social intercourse among the pioneers, their children and friends, etc. A grand reunion of pioneers will be had on the 15th of June next, at the State Fair grounds at Salem.

THE NEW STEAMER.—We made mention some time since of the fact that the W. R. T. Co. contemplated the construction of a light draught boat this spring, designed expressly for the Upper Wallamet trade, and that the contract was awarded Mr. Steffen, the well known boat builder. All the timber, knees, etc. for the hull have been prepared, and are ready to set in position on short notice. Mr. Steffen informs us that he proposes to commence work on the new boat about the latter part of next week. The keel will be laid at the upper sawmill. The machinery formerly used on the Shoshone will be overhauled and placed in the new craft. The dimensions of the boat according the plans are: length 155 feet, beam 35 feet, hold 4½ feet.

DIED.—Some weeks ago we published the particulars of the burning of a man named J. J. Spencer, in a cabin a few miles southwest of the city. This unfortunate man became intoxicated, and falling into the fire, had his right arm, leg and side horribly burned. Great [illegible] of flesh fell away from his side and [illegible] from the effects of the burn, leaving the white bones visible. He lingered in great pain, [illegible] hopes were entertained for his recovery. On the 6th of February Spencer was removed to the poorhouse. He was attended by a physician, and everything done to prolong his miserable existence, but in vain. He lingered until Tuesday last, when death gave him relief from all bodily suffering.

HORSE DEAD.—A large brown and finely formed horse belonging to the O. T. Co. took sick a few days ago and died at the company's stables yesterday morning. Everything was done to save the life of the valuable animal, but all to no purpose. The horse was one of the most handsome and highly prized animals which belong to the company. The lifeless carcass was placed on a truck and taken on board the railroad ferryboat. When the ferryboat had reached about the middle of the river the body was rolled off into the stream and floated away.

MONTHLY MISSIONARY CONCERT.—The missionary concert for March of the Taylor street M. E. Sunday School will take place next Sabbath at 2 P. M. An interesting and profitable selection of exercises is in preparation by the committee, including solos, duets and choruses, recitations and readings. A class exercise, entitled, "Come over and help us," and another, entitled, "Insects of the Bible," by a class of little ones, are among the pieces; also, a mission song by the infant class. The address will be delivered by J. W. Robb, Esq.

WASHINGTON GUARD—ELECTION.—Last evening the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Horatio Cooke, Captain; A. J. Sutherland, 1st Lieutenant; James Liddy, 2d Lieutenant; John Farrow; J. P. Schroeffel, E. B. Gardner, P. Maloney, H. P. Horte, Sergeants in the order given; W. H. O'Donald, Secretary; John Farrow, Treasurer. Captain John M. Gearin, of the Commander in Chief's staff, was present. We believe nearly all the above officers served in similar positions last year.

COMMISSION OF EMIGRATION.—Gov. Grover has issued a commission appointing John P. Sheffield, Honorary Commissioner of Emigration to Oregon for the county of Leicester, England. A commission has been issued appointing Wm. Blood a Commissioner of Emigration to this State for Liverpool, England. Mr. Blood is Secretary to the Chamber of Commerce in Liverpool. Both commissions were received yesterday by Wm. Reid, Esq., and will be forwarded to their destinations without delay.

INSANE CHINAMAN.—A Chinaman named Long Yet was taken into custody yesterday, who from his strange and unnatural actions, was deemed insane. He was talking in a loud tone and gesticulating in an excited manner when found by the officer. He was taken to the city jail, and was so violent that it was found necessary to place him in a dark cell. To-day the deranged Celestial will probably be examined by the proper authorities, and if adjudged insane be sent to the asylum.

FINED.—Yesterday morning a Celestial named Wong Buck, residing on Alder street, was arrested for throwing broken glass out into the street, which is prohibited by ordinance. Wong Buck, for his wholesome disregard of "Melican" municipal regulations, was accorded the privilege of paying the sum of $5 and costs, which he did with "native grace" and took his departure from the precincts of justice.

OUR AMATEUR PAPERS.—The publishers of the Archangel intend to enlarge their paper. Next month it will contain eight pages. This indicates improvement. The Oregon Amateur will be printed on tinted paper with blue ink hereafter. Both these papers present a very neat and tasty appearance, and the selection of reading matter indicates care and research on the part of the editors.

STATE CENTENNIAL COMMISSION.

The following preamble and resolution was read before the Board of Trade at the regular meeting on Wednesday evening and referred to the committee on commerce:

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Among the notable social successes of the season we are gratified to record the fourth annual ball given last evening at Masonic Temple under the auspices of Baker and Canby Post No. 1, G. A. R. The large hall was handsomely draped with the national colors, in which were blended those of other nations, rendering the general effect and appearance of the hall pleasing to the eye. Under the glamour of a score of brilliant gas jets the surroundings of the hall, to which was added the panoramic view of gaily dressed ladies and neatly costumed gentlemen as they swung to and fro in time to the inspiring strains of music, was such as to present a scene of more than ordinary beauty and animation. About seventy couple were present. Dancing commenced about 9 o'clock, and continued until a late hour this morning. Socially speaking the affair was a success, and we are gratified to state that the receipts are quite handsome.

PHILOMATHEAN SOCIETY.—A few evenings since the members of this literary and social Society had a very pleasant and profitable time. After the debate was over, the young men indulged in a "ladyless" dance, which was rendered very laughable on account of its novelty. A library in connection with the Society will soon be started. A number of books have already been donated and workmen are fixing up a room for the purpose of containing the same. The Society publishes a paper, the Philomathean Standard, W. H. Adams, editor.

WINTER IN NEW YORK.

From a New York city paper, of the 19th of February, we clip this paragraph, which may serve to show Oregonians the difference between the terrible winter of which they have have had to complain just now, and an Eastern winter:

It is difficult to describe the great suffering that the occupants of tenement houses are daily compelled to endure for the want of water. Along avenues C and D, as well as on the cross streets, in the Eleventh and Seventeenth wards, scarcely a tenement house could be found yesterday where the water has not been frozen, while in all of them where the water is running it does not reach the second story. Men, women and children can be seen running here and there with pails bringing water from hydrants fortunately not closed. Along East Houston street four buildings were found, containing 85 families and consisting of nearly 300 persons. In these barrack-like dwellings not a particle of water have the tenants been able to procure from any of the hydrants for over two weeks. The agent refuses to have them thawed out, giving as a reason, like Dean Swift's man servant, that they will only freeze up again, and it would be a foolish expenditure of money. Some of the occupants have to go as far as three and four blocks for water required in the common exigencies of life.

A visit to some of the rear yards and alleyways leading to the "Barracks," in what is known as "Africa" in Thompson street, near Spring; "Curries' row," in west Houston street, Rag Pickers' row, on avenue C, and many other places in the city of a similar description, revealed the fact that they were filled with ice and ashes to the depth of three and four feet, the water at the out-door hydrants having been allowed to run continually, until the whole yards and alleyways became deluged and the whole mass frozen solid.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

The very finest photographs are now taken at the new firm of Shuster & Dennie, who have just refitted their rooms corner of First and Yamhill.

BUSY.—The clerks at Joseph Kohn's have just completed the transfer of the first installment of Spring Goods, from the boxes to the counters and shelves in the spacious store. Everything is new and stylish, and will certainly please the patrons of this house. Another installment will arrive on the next steamer, the whole making a grand display. Without waiting to see what may follow, look in at Kohn's and have them show the present stock. They propose to sell at prices to suit the present state of business. Recollect Kohn's, opposite National Bank.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wet hunting these days.

The Eastern mails are coming through regularly.

Quite a number of persons are changing their places of business.

Weekly OREGONIAN now ready for mailing to friends in the Eastern States.

Col. Joe Meek lectured at Oregon City on Wednesday evening, to a full house.

Modest ladies hesitate to appear in the streets while this "horrid wind blows so fiercely."

Fred Ernest, at the Occidental, is happy. It is a boy and the mother, likewise the infant, is doing well.

An accident delayed the west side train several hours yesterday. The train did not reach here until about 1 o'clock.

A number of badly-needed street improvements have been made on Front street; sidewalks laid, ruts filled up, etc.

"Colleen Bawn" will be produced at Oro Fino Theater to-morrow evening. Mrs. R. B. Knapp has kindly volunteered and will make her debut as "Ann Chute."

A new mizzen mast has been placed in the bark Midas, the one formerly used being damaged during a storm at sea. The bark at present is lying at the Pacific wharf.

There may be much poetry in the expression, "Hark, how the stormy March wind blows," but our experience in wading about through the mud and facing the invigorating zephyr, in search of news, is much more painful than poetical.

That industrious young student who appeared so deeply interested in his algebra lesson, when his pater entered his room at 12:30 o'clock a few nights since, is determined, hereafter, to hide his "blood and thunder stories" in a safer place next time.

A bilarious individual "conceived it would be vastly fine" to "vamoose" from a certain city boot store, taking with him a pair of shoes. His countenance indicated that he had changed his mind when a policeman clutched him by the neck and made him return the stolen articles.

A modest youth, of decided poetical tendencies, was heard to declare that during his brief existence he never experienced such sensations as he did a few days since, when he presented a small "pome" to an editor of one of the morning papers with the remark, "Mr. Editor, here is a little poetical tribute which I would respectfully present for publication in your widely-circulated journal." He says that the look of intense horror and disgust with which that editor measured him from head to foot will long linger in his memory.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL, PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

[From the P. C. Advocate.]

No series of meetings have been held at Lee Chapel (M. E. Church), near East Portland, for many years attended with such joyful results as the one now in progress, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Hoberg. On Sunday and Monday last twenty persons united with the church, and there have been many conversions.

The revival meetings held at the Taylor street M. E. church in this city have been continued until this present time, with indications of an increasing interest and profit. At the close of the Sabbath school on Sunday last, about 40 of the scholars, at the invitation of the pastor, Rev. R. Bentley, gathered around the altar for prayer. So great was the interest manifest that an adjourned meeting was held at 4:30 P. M., on Monday.

Yesterday afternoon the Ladies' Sociable and Pastor's Aid Society of the M. E. Church met at the residence of Mr. Wm. Roberts, and had a pleasant and profitable time. Mdms. Roberts, Sutherland and Turner, the committee appointed to district the work to be performed in the aid of the pastor, presented their report which was adopted. It was also resolved to give a sociable on the evening of March 10th, in the lecture room of the Taylor street M. E. church, to which all are cordially invited.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

Buchtel & Stolte's first-class photograph gallery, established in 1853, possesses all the facilities to do better work than any other gallery in the State. All the new styles in the East are made in our rooms. We preserve ALL OUR NEGATIVES, and have at present over 12,000 on hand, from which duplicate copies can be had at any time. We have engaged the services of Mr. Chas. Hesselman, late of Sarony's, in New York, and Bradley & Rulofson and G. D. Morse's, San Francisco. Oil paintings, photographs in water colors, or India ink, and also the beautiful crayon pictures, executed in a superior style. Call and examine specimens.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. DR. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

TEMPTING DEATH.

Every man or woman afflicted with a cough or cold, which he or she takes no measures to arrest, is tempting death. There is not a drug store in the land where HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR may not be procured, and there is no ailment of the lungs or throat tending to consumption or bronchitis, which it is not competent to cure. Do not suffer cold to accumulate on cold, but arrest the first symptoms of pulmonary disease, and tone and invigorate the breathing organs with this wonderful remedy.

PIKE'S TOOTH-ACHE DROPS—Cure in one minute.

THOSE WHO SUFFER from nervous irritations, itching, uneasiness, and the discomfort that follows from an enfeebled and disordered state of the system, should take AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and cleanse the blood. Purge out the lurking distemper that undermines the health, and the constitutional vigor will return.

MR. HAMMOND'S METHOD.

An idea of the mode of procedure by which Rev. E. P. Hammond, the great revivalist, accomplishes such truly wonderful results in awakening religious interest in the minds of children, may be obtained from the following report of the children's meeting held by him at San Francisco, on the 22d of February. The report we take from a paper of that city:

The hour appointed for the afternoon meeting of Dr. Hammond's revival services yesterday was half-past two, but the children, remembering how they had been entertained on Sunday afternoon, began to enter Dr. Stone's church before two o'clock. It is said that the children's meetings will be held for two weeks before evening services are started, on the principle that if the children are first interested and converted, there will be no difficulty about saving their fathers and mothers.

A large number of children from the Protestant Orphan Asylum were allowed to attend as a treat on Washington's birthday. By the time appointed the church was comfortably filled. Besides the ministers present in the morning there were also Revs. Whythe, Dillie, of Hayes valley; M. M. Gibson; Rowell, of the Mariners' church; Williams, who preaches in Welsh; and Newton, of the Baptist church.

The services opened with the singing of several hymns, after which the Rev. Mr. Calhoun, of San Jose, made a prayer. Rev. Mr. Hammond began by asking the children to name the five links of the golden chain. They responded very promptly. A part of Matthew's account of the crucifixion of Jesus was then read, Mr. Hammond making remarks as he proceeded. He described West's picture of the trial of Jesus minutely to the wondering little ones, and also its effect upon a five-year old girl who went to see it, making her love the Saviour. The audience then repeated a prayer, beginning with, "Dear Saviour, help us to come to Thee," after Mr. Hammond, and then, "Jesus loves me," was sung.

Mr. Hammond took for his text, "Christ also both loved us, and hath given Himself for us." He began by impressing upon the children the fact that all are sinners, but Christ died for them; and queried whether mother or father loved them enough to die for them. In Cincinnati a man told him a story of a mother who died for her little girl. A boat was on fire and a man tried to swim on shore with the mother and her baby. He found it impossible to rescue both, and so he asked the mother which he should save. She said: "Take care of my babe, and tell her I died for her, but Jesus loved her better than I did. He died a more cruel death than I to save her." The mention of that mother brought tears to that child's eyes when she had grown to be a young lady. Other instances were given of the devotion of mothers, and one of a daughter, who was ashamed to own the mother who became disfigured for life in consequence of trying to save her child from a fiery death. "But Christ, you have seen him disfigured, all bleeding, and nailed upon the cross for you. Are you ashamed of him, that dear friend?" A sailor once saved a babe from a burning dwelling. Eighteen years after that sailor lay dying, and he told his physician that he had never been well since that dreadful day of the fire. "Don't you think you were a fool," asked the doctor, "to imperil your life for a mere baby?" "Doctor," he replied, "two weeks ago last Sunday that baby, now 18 years old, dedicated her life to God. No, I'm not sorry; I saved a life for Jesus." "When I walked the streets of Jerusalem, I often wept to think that I had not loved Jesus more. One day I went to the place of crucifixion, and there I found a little boy six years old, and he was kneeling down and saying: "Dear Jesus, thou gavest thyself for me, and now I love thee, and will love thee evermore."

A number of years ago in Detroit, I visited a wealthy Englishman, an invalid, who had kept his house nine years. I asked him what was the matter. He said nine years before he saved the life of a child who was in a carriage that a horse was running away with. He was severely injured. For three days he lay insensible. Then he came to, and the first words he said were: "Is the child safe?" They said "Yes;" and he said: "Bring her to me." For nine years he had looked out of the window for that little girl, and year after year he had looked in vain; but he had loved her more and more. If she only would come and say: "Oh, Mr. Benson, I love you so for saving my life!" he would be content. To-day, Jesus is saying: "Where is that little girl for whose sake I left my beautiful home in Heaven; where that boy for whom I was buffeted and scourged? I am the only one who can save them and make them happy in this world and the world to come. If they would only say: "Dear Jesus, I love thee because thou hast done so much for me." Jesus looks around and sees prayerless fathers and godless mothers, and asks: "Why do they not come to me that suffered for them on Calvary?"

Another prayer was repeated, and then a part of the ministers present, led by Mr. Hammond, left the stand and began to converse in low tones with the children. Till now the latter had been tearless, but as they were exhorted personally to come to Christ, many began to weep, and in some instances a whole pew full were in tears. Beside the Post reporter sat two sisters, 9 and 12 years of age. Several persons approached them and asked, "Well, little girls, do you love Jesus?"

"Yes, sir," they responded.

"Do you feel sure that He has forgiven your sins?"

"I do."

"And you are happy to-day?"

"Yes, indeed."

A number of the children who cried on Sunday had been converted, so Mr. Hammond said, and they now looked radiant. While the murmured conversation progressed the choir sang hymn after hymn. "Come to Jesus, call upon him, he will save you just now," was the burden of their song. One 12-year old girl sought out Mr. Hammond and asked him to pray for her, and together they knelt in the middle aisle. Mr. Hammond escorted one girl to the altar and told the children that this young lady was converted in Burlington "at just such a children's meeting."

Although there is no immediate prospect of the building of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, the firm of BECK & WALDMAN are still prepared to give customers, old and new, the very best bargains in clothing. They have a splendid stock and propose to keep it complete. New Goods arrive per every steamer. Youths' clothing continues a specialty at this house. Call to-day, or at any time you happen to pass.

The Wrong Side of the Meridian.

On the down hill side of life, which an old medical writer quaintly terms "the wrong side of the meridian," when the functions decay and the frame gradually bends under the weight of years, the system requires to be sustained under the burden imposed upon it. Innumerable physical ailments and infirmities then press upon it to which it had been in earlier life a stranger. The surest and pleasantest support and solace of declining years is found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, long recognized as the most wholesome and agreeable of diffusible stimulants, the most potent of tonics and alteratives. The aged and infirm may place implicit confidence in this invigorating elixir, which not only checks those maladies to which elderly persons are peculiarly subject, but in a measure retards the encroachment of time upon the constitution.

OREGON.

W. J. Eustabrooks, Esq., has resigned the office of Recorder of Baker City. Not enough emoluments.

The county court of Clackamas county, has extended the time for paying taxes in that county for one month.

A writing school is in full blast at Dilley, with 25 members and James Montgomery as teacher. He is well spoken of in this capacity.

The Independent says: "The Game law is not understood on the Wapato lake, some claiming that they can hunt as much as they please, which may prove rather dear sport about court time."

At the annual meeting of the Board of Delegates of the Oregon City Fire Department, held on last Wednesday evening, Hon. John Myers was elected President, A. C. Bayley, Secretary, and H. Harding Treasurer.

Mr. J. D. Rowell, of Washington county, lost during the last week two fine horses, one a fine stallion, worth $300, died from having a nail run into his foot, and the other a fine young mare, from being snagged in the leg.

The Washington County Council P. of H., at the last meeting, elected the following officers to serve for the next year: Ulysses Jackson, President; R. A. Carpenter, Vice President; H. C. Raymond, Secretary; T. D. Humphreys, Treas.; Jas. W. Gibson, Steward; E. H. Warren, Door-keeper.

Stock of all kinds in Tillamook is coming through the winter in good condition. The grass is green and growing. But little feeding has been necessary this winter. The farmers are plowing and sowing grain. Their winter wheat and oats look well, not having been injured in the least by the winter.

Much interest was manifested in a case which was tried in justice court at La Grande on Thursday of last week, entitled State of Oregon vs. Andrew Ladd, in which defendant was charged with burglary in forcibly entering a granary belonging to his son, John Ladd. Defendant was held to bail for his appearance at circuit court for the sum of $200, which, having been given, he was left at liberty.

The Hillsboro Independent tells this: "Recently in his absence Mr. Harmon's house on the Lousignot Lake caught fire from the chimney in the night and burned up with all the household effects. The boy who was living in the house, when he found it was on fire, went to his uncle's dwelling near by and went to bed with one of his cousins, and said nothing about the fire, because he did not like to disturb the folks when it was so damp and chilly out doors."

The board of directors of the Washington county Agricultural Society met at the court house in Hillsboro, and was called to order by the president, R. Imbrie. The committee, to whom was referred the premium list for 1875, reported. Nearly all premiums in the agricultural, mechanical and ladies' department were increased. Messrs. Imbrie, Jackson and Pittinger were appointed a committee on buildings. Superintendents of the several classes were appointed for the next fair. On motion, all the privileges of the fair grounds were extended to Riley Cave at the fair to be held September 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th and October 1st, 1875.

Concerning wheat in Washington county, Ulysses Jackson asserts, and the Independent thinks he is about right that nearly all the wheat in the Tualatin plains is killed or so badly damaged that it will not make a crop. Mr. Jackson has 110 acres that is killed, and his timothy is badly injured. Messrs. Black and J. R. Porter's wheat near the Grove is killed, the former having 120 acres. Sam Hughes' timothy was literally spewed out of the ground and Sam thinks of gathering up the roots and going into the gunny sack business. There is some consolation in these losses by the freeze; they fall on the men who are best able to bear them. The crops of the small farmers in the woods are all right. Wherever the cold east wind had full sweep the wheat is mostly dead.

A letter, dated the 23d ult., from Tillamook to the Independent, says: "A ledge supposed to be rich in silver has been discovered near this valley. A company of 25 men are at work on this ledge drilling and blasting and developing the mine. They will send some of the rock to Portland to-morrow to have it assayed; in the meantime the company will continue work, as they have entire faith that the ledge is rich in silver. The excitement here reminds me of the spring of 1862, when the Florence mines spread such a fever among the people. You can see men with picks and shovels, blankets and cooking utensils on their backs pressing forward, and every man struggles to get in the lead. Oregon may yet furnish as rich mines as have yet been discovered. Why not mines here on the Coast range, which is continuous with the coast mountains in California so rich in all the valuable minerals?"

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1875.

A STRANGE CASE.

[From the St. Paul Press of Feb. 19.]

Of all the places in the world for studying the various developments of character, and the strange idiosyncrasies which take possession of mankind, there is nothing to compare with Police Headquarters in different cities. Of course the criminal faces of human nature usually predominate, varied by exhibitions of mental hallucinations, sad or joyful, or comical or serious misunderstandings in regard to the more ordinary and common-place affairs of life.

Yesterday morning, as the Chief of Police was quietly seated in his office, a rather genteel looking stranger entered the room, and in a polite manner, requested an interview with the presiding official on business of great importance. The man was evidently of foreign birth, courteous in address, and neat and cleanly in attire, while the expression of his countenance bore no trace of the criminal instinct which is presumed to leave its traces on the face as a note of warning to honest men, and a perpetual signal of guilt to the executive officers of justice. The stranger was about 25 years of age, and seemed depressed in spirits, while traces of recent illness were detected upon his first entrance into the room.

After a brief preliminary conversation, during the course of which the man informed Chief King that he had been the perpetrator of the greatest crime known in law, and since its commission his conscience had so troubled him that he no longer felt able to walk about with the terrible sense of guilt weighing him down continually, but he had never before spoken of his crime; he felt impelled to do so now by some invisible power over which he had no control, and in obedience to the Chief's request, he walked into the private office and made the following statement in response to frequent interrogatories.

STORY OF HIS LIFE AND CRIME.

He said his name was George Johnson, and that he was a native of Norway. During his youth he had served an apprenticeship in a book-binding establishment, and in the summer or fall of the year 1867, he crossed the ocean, and after his arrival in New York obtained employment at the bindery of Smith & Miller, No. 18 North William street. During his sojourn in the city and up to the time of the occurrence to be hereinafter related, he boarded at a house on Vandewater street, the number of which he did not mention in his statement of yesterday.

In about three months after his arrival in this country, Johnson says that at about 8 o'clock on a Saturday evening in the month of November, 1867, he was walking homeward from Castle Garden, and during his walk, while passing one of the North River piers on the river side of the street, he was violently assailed by a man who seemed to be in an intoxicated condition. Johnson alleges that he had some money on his person at the time, and presuming that his assailant intended to rob him—the locality being generally considered dangerous at that hour in the evening—he resisted the assault with all the force and energy which he could summon, but he did not decide upon a resort to desperate measures until after the stranger had dealt him a powerful blow in the face.

Johnson claims that after this occurred, he grappled with his assailant, and while not really intending to do so, he ended the assault by throwing the man over the pier into the North river, where he sank from sight and was drowned. He never heard of him afterward, and has gradually been convinced that he was a murderer, and as such responsible to the law. Wherever he has journeyed, the phantom of his crime has followed him, until now he finds the only hope of mental peace in a full and complete confession, and expresses an anxiety to be tried, preferring, however, to be returned to New York for that purpose, and in accordance with that desire he made his revelations at Police Headquarters yesterday, and appealed for the friendly offices of the chief in his behalf.

As may be imagined, that official was confused and embarrassed by the strange recital, given in such a coherent and intelligible manner as to preclude the theory of violent insanity or mania. While he was in no sense a "swift witness," he nevertheless exhibited a desire to make his statement without concealment or mental reservations, his manner in the meantime being gentlemanly and unostentatious. The chief was anxious to further the ends of justice if any crime has really been committed, while equally anxious to avoid any show of unnecessary harshness to the individual if his strange story had been inspired by mental hallucination. The story, however, was told in such a straightforward manner that there was so substantial reason discovered for doubting its accuracy, with the possible exception of some slight peculiarities observed in his demeanor at the conclusion of his statement.

In response to further inquiries, Johnson stated that since his arrival in St. Paul, he had been stopping at the St. Thomas Hotel, on Rosabel street, between Third and Fourth. He further assured his interlocutor that he was at present without much means, having exhausted his surplus during a severe attack of rheumatic fever, from which he has but recently recovered. Taking these facts in connection with the peculiar actions above alluded to, it was deemed at least humane and prudent to place him under restraint until he can be examined by medical experts, to decide upon the question of his sanity, while in the meantime an effort will be made to ascertain further particulars in regard to his former history, and if possible, to obtain some new light in regard to the crime in which he regards himself as concerned and for which he is responsible to justice and his fellows.

The man has no appearance of the criminal about him, and if he has taken the life of a fellow-creature, it must have been done in self-defense and under extraordinary pressure. Under all the circumstances there can be but little doubt that the disease from which he has so recently suffered has affected his faculties to a certain extent, and that the visions of his crime are but the products of a disordered brain. The authorities are accepting the latter theory as the correct one, and will provide the unfortunate man with treatment such as is required by his condition until some information can be obtained which will lead to the discovery of his friends and relatives, in this country or in Europe.

MANILA AND ALASKA.—Noting that common usage adopts longitude 180 degrees from Greenwich as the point where a person traveling westward around the globe will find his Monday changed to Tuesday, a correspondent of the New York Evening Post calls attention to two curious exceptions. Manila in the Philippine Islands, is one day behind the rest of the East Indies in its expression of the days of the week, while Alaska is one day ahead of British Columbia. The explanation is that the Philippine Islands were colonized by Spaniards, who first came there from the East across the Pacific; but the rest of the East Indies were colonized by Europeans, coming from the opposite direction. Each set of colonists brought its own day of the week, and consequently it happens that Manila is weekly keeping its Sunday while the neighboring islands are having their Monday. So in regard to Alaska. That country was first settled by Russians coming from the West, while the remainder of the eastern coast of the Pacific was settled from the East. Thus it happens that when Alaska is keeping Sunday, it is only Saturday on the rest of the coast. And what is more wonderful still, Alaska being ninety degrees east of Manila, will have already enjoyed one-fourth of its Monday before the latter place enters upon its Sunday.

HER LUCK.—A veritable descendant of Saint Martha came into a neighbor's house in Buffalo a few days since, downcast, wearying with many cares, and cumbered with much serving. "So much to do: cleaning, working, cooking, washing, sewing, and everything else! No rest! never was, never will be, for me!" "O yes," said the good woman she addressed, "there will be rest one day for us all—a long rest." "Not for me! not for me!" was the reply. "Whenever I do die there will be certain to be a resurrection the very next day. It would be just my luck."

"Where a woman," says Mrs. Partington, "has been married with a congealing heart, and one that beat desponding to her own, she will never want to enter the maritime state again."

Though the latest wheat telegrams from Liverpool indicated a rise of 3d per cental on lots of average California, ex warehouse, no other change in that market was noted by the same advices, yet it is fair to presume that other qualities as club and Oregon wheat, and wheat in transit and for shipment, were correspondingly advanced and were quotable nominally as so much higher.

There are no noticeable changes in our local money market if we except the reported difficulties in which, according to street rumor, a recently organized banking institution and a certain dry goods house are involved. The reports were somewhat contradictory, but from all we can learn matters are in a fair way of adjustment without further serious trouble.

The loanable funds in this market are ample for the current demand, and with the dullness prevailing in the grain and flour market, we are likely to pass through the spring with a very considerable amount of unemployed funds which might be invested here with advantage to the country, were lenders inclined to acquiesce in the logic of events and reduce rates to the per cent. to which San Francisco and all points east of the Rocky mountains have gone. But there are the fewest persons now in our State with enterprise and who can command the security which business men require, that can see any margin on loans secured at the maximum rate allowed by law, and hence we find our manufacturing interests lagging and our great resources undeveloped, while the capital to start factories, to raise our coal and other minerals and build our forests into ships, is idle. The question as to how this state of things is to be changed is now receiving the earnest attention of business men here and elsewhere in Oregon as it never has before, and we believe out of the general agitation some good results are bound to flow.

Trade in local circles presents no changes to-day other than those noted elsewhere. Matters seem rather more active than yesterday, and some orders are in hand for stocks of considerable magnitude. Prices in all lines of imported goods are steady at our quotations.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The transactions in this cereal continue very limited, as there is not much to encourage business, the prices of tonnage ruling about as at last reports, and the foreign markets, though slightly improved, being considered in a fluctuating condition and liable to move up or down according to circumstances, the probabilities being about as much in favor of one direction as the other. The vessels now at hand under engagement, are all well along in loading, and at present there is but one in port loading,—the Cordelia—and she will be finished by the first of next week. The Euterpe is at Astoria, and lacks about 500 tons, while the Conflict at the same place, has completed. Under these circumstances, it is not strange that shippers are indifferent purchasers and decline to quote at anything over $1 35 per cental for ordinary lots. A round lot, however, would probably find a buyer at $1 37½.

FLOUR—The bark Spirit of the Dawn has just cleared for Liverpool with nearly 12,000 barrels of flour. The stocks in hand are quite large and receipts continue to be heavy from mills in the interior. Quotations remain at $4 25@4 50 per bbl for jobbing lots of standard extras; $4 for good outside and country brands, and $3 50@3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There is a duller feeling in the market, and some leading buyers decline to pay over 45 cents per bushel for fair lots, including sacks, while the extreme maximum quotations are 48 cents against 50c last week, and the demand lighter.

BARLEY—Offers no features of interest, as there have not been sufficient dealings to establish values. Receipts are decreased, and prices nominally at $1 25@1 30 ₩ 100 lbs, according to the quality.

MILL FEED—There is no improvement in the condition of the trade, and we quote the market dull at $25@27 50 per ton for middlings; bran, $13@14; chops, $25@27 50; shorts, $20; oil cake, $30.

HAY—No change in prices since last week; the supply is full for the current demand; good timothy quotable at $11@12 per ton.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 72½@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 70@75c.

ONIONS—There is rather a better feeling in the market, and choice lots are quotable at $1 50 ₩ 100 pounds.

APPLES RIPE—There are many more in the country than it was thought the cold weather had left. Shipments are free. Choice lots assorted and neatly packed command $1 per box; loose from wagons quotable at 60@75c.

APPLES DRIED—There is the usual demand at low rates: 4½@5c ₩ lb in sacks, 5@5½ in kegs.

BACON—The market is largely supplied and hams and shoulders find slow sale. Sides are quotable at 11@11½c ₩ lb; hams, 13@14; shoulders, 8@9c.

LARD—There is a fair demand for a good article in kegs or tins, full weight, at 12½@13½c ₩ lb.

BUTTER—There is a greater scarcity than has been noted for a long time, and choice is eagerly sought for, for the home trade, at 40c ₩ lb.

EGGS.—So depressed is the San Francisco market that few dealers care much about handling for shipment. The requirements of the home trade are fully met at 15a16 cents per dozen.

CHICKENS—Choice lots of full grown are worth $4a4 25 ₩ dozen; common and mixed, $3 25@3 75.

DRESSED HOGS—The packing season having closed, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6@6½c ₩ lb.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals of choice lots during the past week, and for such, prices have advanced to 6 cts ₩ lb on foot; ordinary quotable at 5@5½c.

MUTTON SHEEP—There are very few lots offering, and choice are worth $3 25@3 75 ₩ head, and some at the extreme of $4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16@16½c ₩ lb; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12; elk, 22c ₩ lb; deer, 18@35c ₩ lb dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, $1@1 50; otter, $2@5; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c ₩ lb; common to fair lots, 18@19c.

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Trade is quiet and prices for seasonable goods firm at current quotations. Mitchell Wagons, $120@145; Bain, 3-inch to 4-inch thimble skein, $130 to $160; Pacific do, $120@150. Seasonable Goods are in full supply.

BOOTS AND SHOES—Stocks on hand embrace full assortment; trade light, yet an active call for the favorite brands, like the Cordova kip and the genuine Webfoot boots; for Ladies', Misses' and Children's wear the Button Boots take the lead. We quote Webfoot 2-sole kip boots, $51@54; Granger ½ lbs kip boots, $45@48; Mohawk Standard boots, $54 50@60; Calf Dress boots, ds & ts, $57@60; Boys' Rip Cordova boots, $30; Boys' Split do, $24; Rubber do, $54@57; Knee, $48@51. Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF
Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

Has been widely used during the last twenty-five years, in the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. The shakes, or chills, once broken by it, do not return, until the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers' Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system, and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, so that no Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed, where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear. Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria, it will expel the poison and protect them from attack. Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm, has no speedier remedy.

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy.
